WHAT EVERYONE NEEDS TO KNOW ABOUT PASSOVER

How to remove chametz, prepare your home and celebrate the holiday of freedom!

PASSOVER.
PESACH.
ZMAN CHEIRUTEINU –
THE TIME OF OUR FREEDOM.

Is there any other holiday for which we spend more time, effort and energy preparing?

This guide provides a clear, easy-to-read overview of the mitzvot and customs related to Pesach, as well as the terms associated with the holiday.

Throughout this guide, the terms Pesach and Passover are used interchangeably. If you are unsure about any aspect of Pesach observance, just reach out to an Orthodox rabbi.

When is Passover?

We observe Passover from the 15th through the 22nd of the Hebrew month of Nisan.

Pesach 2023 begins on Wednesday night, April 5, and lasts through Thursday, April 13.

It is forbidden to eat chametz beginning Wednesday morning, April 5. See page 2 for the corresponding zmanim (times).

Is my home kosher for Passover?

Keeping a year-round kosher home is not the same as a “kosher for Passover” home.

On Passover, eating chametz, or having chametz in your possession, is forbidden. (See “What exactly is chametz?” below)

This mitzvah takes up the bulk of our Pesach preparations, as we search, clean and even scrub our homes to remove all remnants of edible chametz.

What does this look like in practice?

Cleaning

The entire home must be cleaned of all edible chametz. Check and clean out any place where chametz may have entered during the year. (If you have kids at home, this might mean under the beds, in the closets, and of course, in your car!) Either clean all toys or set aside designated clean toys.

Selling

There is a custom to sell chametz to a non-Jew, if (for certain reasons) it would be impractical to dispose of the chametz. Place chametz in a specially marked and sealed place, e.g. a room or closet. That storage space can then be leased to a non-Jew for the duration of the holiday. Ask your Orthodox rabbi to help you arrange this. For guidelines on what can and should be sold, see page 39.

Different Utensils

Year-round cooking and eating utensils should not be used, and separate utensils should be purchased exclusively for Pesach use. (In some cases, year-round utensils may be kashered for Pesach use, in consultation with a rabbi.) Check out our “Kashering Primer” on page 10, for more details.

What exactly is chametz?

Chametz is any food created by allowing grain (specifically wheat, oat, spelt, rye or barley) and water to ferment and rise. This is often referred to as “leaven.”

Some common examples of chametz are bread, crackers, cookies, pretzels and pasta.

Even foods with minute amounts of chametz ingredients, or foods processed on utensils or machinery that are used for chametz, are not permissible for Pesach use. Practically speaking, any processed food that is not certified as kosher for Passover may potentially include chametz ingredients and should not be eaten on Pesach.

The busy days before Pesach – special mitzvot and customs

Have you combed every inch of your home for wayward chametz, turned over your kitchen into an aluminum-foil-covered spaceship, and searched all corners?

You’re ready for the next step:

Bedikat Chametz

Bedikat Chametz means the “search for chametz.” We comb our homes for any chametz that we might have overlooked. This year, Bedikat Chametz will take place on Tuesday evening, April 4. Any chametz found is set aside to be burned the next morning.

Burning the Chametz

On the morning of Erev Pesach, we burn the chametz. See page 2 for the latest time to burn your chametz.

The Fast of the Firstborns

Erev Pesach--Wednesday, April 5--is a fast day for firstborn males (Ta’anit Bechorim). During the tenth plague, all the firstborns in Egypt died. G-d passed over the homes of the Jews and spared their firstborns. To commemorate this, firstborns fast on Erev Pesach.

Many congregations conduct a siyum. (The conclusion of a portion of Torah learning is a celebratory occasion that allows for a seudat mitzvah, a ritual feast). A siyum exempts firstborn males from fasting altogether.

Maot Chitim – money for the poor

Before Pesach, there is a custom to give Maot Chitim (literally, money for wheat). We donate money to the needy to help them buy matzot and other food for Pesach. Visit ou.org/hunger to support the OU’s Maot Chitim campaign efforts, where money is given to poverty-stricken families to help them celebrate the holiday with happiness and dignity.

Passover is Here – What You Need to Know

Not all the days of Passover are the same or have the same laws.

Eruv Tavshilin

An eruv tavshilin should be made on erev yom tov, Wednesday, April 5, to allow for the preparation of food on yom tov that will be consumed on Shabbat.

The first three days and the last two days

The first three days (sundown Wednesday night, April 5, through sundown Motzei Shabbat, April 8) and the last two days (sundown Tuesday night, April 11, through Thursday, April 13) are observed with Shabbat restrictions on work and creative activity. The exceptions (for the first and last two days only) are carrying and the use of fire, which are both permitted (in certain ways) if needed for cooking and food preparation.

The Intermediate Days – Chol Ha’moed

The intermediate days of Pesach (Motzei Shabbat, April 8 – Tuesday, April 11) are considered “semi-festive.” Although they are the “weekday” of the holiday, not all work, activities and crafts are permitted. The laws of Chol Ha’moed are pretty nuanced. An Orthodox rabbi will be able to give you detailed guidance. Though technically Chol Ha’moed begins this year on Friday night, April 7, the “semi-festive” nature of the days does not begin until the end of Shabbat.

You've made it to the Seder!

Now what?

Here's your overview of the mitzvot of the Seder:

The Seven Mitzvot of the Seder

There are two Torah obligations and five rabbinical obligations to perform during the Seder.

Torah Mitzvot:

1. Relating the story of the Exodus (Maggid—reading from the Haggadah).
2. Eating matzah.

The Seder Plate

The Seder plate is arranged with symbolic foods that follow the order of the Haggadah. The prepared plate is placed in front of the leader of the Seder, who gives out the various foods to each participant at the relevant times.

What do we put on the Seder plate?

Charoset: a mixture of apples, nuts, wine, and cinnamon, symbolizing the bricks and mortar of ancient Egypt

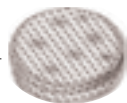

Karpas: a vegetable (preferably parsley, radish, potato, or celery)

Maror: bitter herbs (may consist of romaine lettuce, endives, or pure horseradish)

Beitzah: a roasted or boiled egg

Zeroa: a piece of roasted or boiled meat or poultry

Salt water: Place a bowl of salt water for dipping the karpas near the Seder plate.

Matzah

Three whole matzot are placed next to the Seder plate. We are commanded to eat matzah three times during the Seder:

1. At the start of the Seder meal (with a special bracha)
2. For korech (Hillel sandwich) together with the maror
3. For the afikomen (at the end of the meal)

For details on the specific amounts and requirements see “Sizing Up the Seder” on page 16.

Rabbinical Mitzvot:

1. Arbah Kosot: Drinking four cups of wine.
2. Maror: Eating bitter herbs.
3. Hallel: Reciting psalms of praise.
4. Afikoman: Eating an extra piece of matzah for dessert as a reminder of the Pesach offering.
5. Demonstrating acts of freedom like sitting with a pillow and leaning to the left when eating matzah and drinking wine.

Bitter herbs (maror)

Everyone is obligated to eat bitter herbs twice at each Seder:

1. A kezayit of maror, dipped in charoset
2. A second, smaller amount, inside the matzah sandwich (korech)

Maror must be raw and unpreserved. Therefore, commercially prepared grated horseradish, which is packed in vinegar, may not be used for the mitzvah.

Telling the story of the Exodus and singing Hallel

We encourage young children to participate in the Seder to the best of their ability. It is customary for the youngest person at the Seder to ask the Four Questions.

We close the Seder with Hallel, which praises G-d and His special relationship with the people of Israel. The Seder traditionally concludes with singing (and dancing to) several lively songs that celebrate our treasured relationship with G-d.

When Passover ends

All dietary laws and restrictions remain in effect until nightfall of the eighth day of Pesach.

Chametz that was properly sold may only be eaten once the resale is confirmed by your rabbi (agent). Chametz that was in the possession of a Jew during Pesach is forbidden for consumption by any Jew, even after Pesach. ■

READ BEFORE DIPPING: Your Guide to Tevillat Keilim

By Rabbi Moshe Zywic

The Torah (Bamidbar 31:23) commands us that utensils which were acquired from a non-Jew and made from gold, silver, copper, iron, tin, or lead, must be toiveled (immersed in a mikvah) before they may be used with food. Glass utensils must be toiveled as well, based on a rabbinic requirement. If one purchased used utensils, they must first be *kasher*ed before toiveling. However, if one borrows or rents utensils from a non-Jew, there is no mitzvah of tevilas keilim. Before immersing, the utensils must be completely clean; all labels and even residual glue from the labels must be removed. Prior to tevilah, a beracha is recited.

Most regular items can be immersed without ruining them. For certain electronic items the water should be shaken out, and one can use a blow dryer to dry the inside or it should be left to dry for three days. If the item has a digital panel and one is scared that it will get ruined, he should gift it to a non-Jew who will lift it up and take possession of it. Afterwards, he can borrow it back from the non-Jew.

A CENTURY OF OU KOSHER CERTIFICATION

By Timothy D. Lytton

This year marks the 100th anniversary of OU Kosher certification. A remarkable history lies behind the extraordinary variety of kosher-for-Passover products featured in this guide. That history tells a story of how the OU has embraced the American spirit of entrepreneurship to safeguard Jewish religious tradition.

The Origins of OU Kosher

The story begins in 1923 with the founding of the OU Women's Branch. From its inception, the Women's Branch dedicated itself to promoting traditional kashrus observance through its extensive network of synagogue sisterhood organizations. The 1920s was a time of rapid cultural assimilation. As Jews strived to secure a place in the American middle class, they frequently abandoned traditional religious practices that they feared would hold them back. In response, the Women's Branch appealed to the middle-class aspirations of Jewish women by touting the health and hygienic benefits of kosher food and by promoting kashrus observance as a sign of civility and refinement.¹

The early 20th century was also a time of increasing industrialization of the food supply. Like other American women, Jewish women of the time welcomed the emergence of packaged foods produced in factories, which liberated them from the toil of preparing every family meal from scratch.² To help free Jewish women from their kitchens, the Women's Branch organized campaigns to convince food companies to make their products kosher.³

Under the leadership of Rebbetzin Rebecca Goldstein, wife of then OU President Rabbi Dr. Herbert Goldstein, the Women's Branch prompted the OU to establish the Kosher Certification Service. The Women's Branch coordinated inspections and investigations into the kosher status of ingredients.⁴ Thanks to these efforts, by the mid-1930s, the OU Kosher Certification Service had successfully acquired about two dozen clients, many of which manufactured leading national brands.⁵

Building the OU Brand

In 1950, the OU appointed Rabbi Alexander Rosenberg to run its Kosher Division. Under Rosenberg's leadership, the OU experienced a sustained and dramatic expansion of its certification services. In 1945, the OU employed 40 kosher inspectors to certify 184 products for 37 companies. By 1970, shortly before he retired, the OU employed more than 750 inspectors to certify more than 2,500 products for 475 companies.⁶

Rosenberg successfully marketed OU certification to consumers and major food companies by making OU certification a leading brand in its own right. By the mid-1950s, the OU was distributing each year more than 100,000 free copies of its Kashrut Directory through synagogues and other community organizations. In talking to food companies, Rosenberg touted the OU's reputation among kosher consumers as maintaining rigorous standards.⁷

Julius Berman

Rosenberg professionalized kosher supervision. Up until the 1950s, congregational rabbis with little knowledge of Jewish law or food production often sold personal endorsements to unwary food companies. Rosenberg cut deals with many of these rabbis, telling them that if they handed over all their clients and adhered to OU kashrus standards, the OU would pay them to continue providing supervision to those clients. Because of its reputation as the gold standard in kosher certification, the OU could afford to charge higher fees, which allowed it to pay the local rabbis more and still cover the administrative costs for training and supervising them.⁸

Alongside the OU's Rabbinic leadership, innovative and committed lay leaders advanced OU Kosher's mission. Notably, Nat Gross and Julius Berman each served for decades as Chairman of the Joint Kashrus Commission, a body which coordinated the kosher certification efforts of the OU and the Rabbinical Council of America.

Embracing Competition

In 1980, the OU appointed Rabbi Menachem Genack to head its kosher operations. By that time, the OU

Rabbi Menachem Genack

faced growing competition from other reputable kosher certification agencies. Genack embraced this competition, believing that it would motivate continual improvement in kosher certification throughout the industry to the benefit of consumers. To further enhance the OU's brand and beat out its rivals, he developed in-house expertise among his staff in food chemistry and technology, and he built more extensive systems of management oversight to ensure the quality of inspections.⁹ To keep pace, the other agencies followed suit, while Genack competed and fostered cooperation as a leader in the Association of Kashrus Organizations, a trade group that sets high kosher and ethical standards for the entire industry.¹⁰

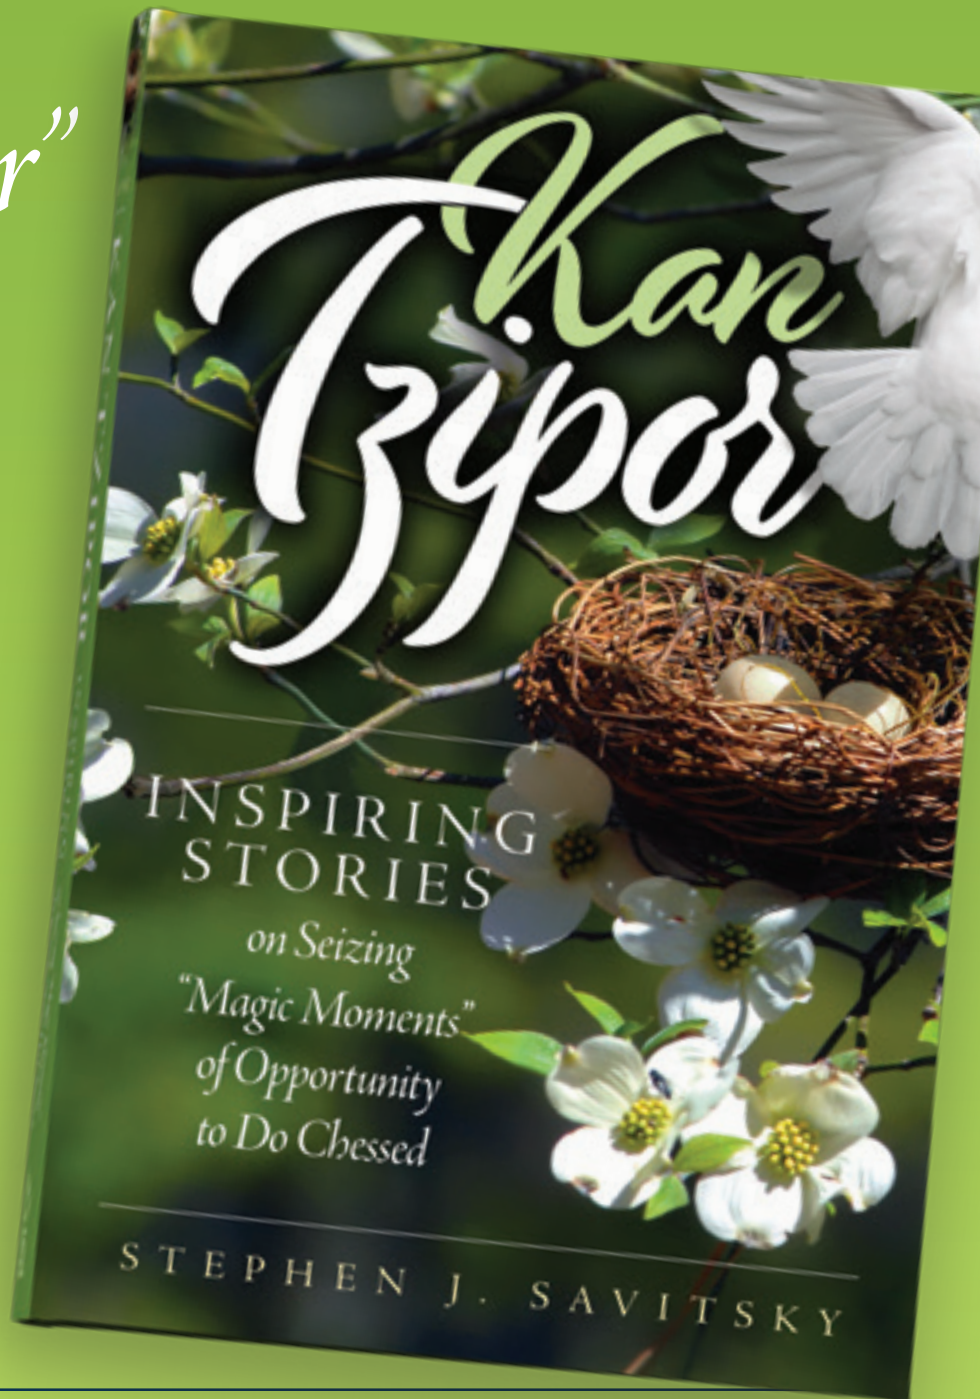

Under Genack's leadership, OU Kosher has thrived. In 1980, when Genack arrived, the OU had 500 food company clients. Forty-three years later, the OU now has more than 6,000 clients worldwide for whom it certifies nearly 1.3 million products supervised by a staff of 900 inspectors and managers.¹¹ Moreover, the mix of cooperation and competition among kosher certification agencies that Genack fostered has spurred extraordinary growth in the availability and popularity of kosher certified foods.

A Mark of Quality

Today, approximately forty percent of packaged goods in a typical US supermarket are certified kosher, and more products in the US are labeled kosher than are labeled organic, natural, or premium. The OU certifies roughly two thirds of those products.¹²

The popularity of kosher food extends far beyond the Orthodox Jewish community. 12.5 million US consumers purchase kosher food because it is kosher certified. However, only eight percent of these consumers are religious Jews who buy exclusively kosher foods, and an estimated eighty percent are not even Jewish.¹³ Consumers have come to rely on kosher certification for a host of reasons, including health and food safety concerns or dietary restrictions, such as vegetarianism or lactose intolerance.¹⁴ Many consumers view kosher certification as a mark of quality assurance.¹⁵ Consequently, major food companies rolling out new products now routinely obtain reliable kosher certification.

It is no exaggeration to say that one of the OU's greatest achievements is harnessing marketing expertise to preserve traditional kashrus observance—an achievement that aims to afford everyone a chag kasher v'sameach. ■

The highlight for me was the Cave of the Patriarchs. My first visit and one I will never forget. Going back in time to visit such a holy place is emotional and a spiritual, enriching experience. To hear and understand first hand what the settlers lived through, and their determination to succeed, was an aspect of the tour I appreciated. The tour was very well organized and planned. Special thanks to Yaffa for her efforts and enthusiasm.

This tour was awesome!!! Rabbi Hochbaum is an excellent guide who brought the history to life as we walked in the footsteps of our forefathers and mothers as well as the many people who gave their lives al Kiddush haShem. This tour really made an impression. Even our 12 year old said it was "very cool and special". I would highly recommend it.

OWN A PET?

Make sure it doesn't go hungry this Pesach

By Rabbi Chaim Loike

Can your pet eat chametz on Pesach?

No. This means that you cannot feed your pet any of the five grains: wheat, barley, spelt, oats and rye.

What other pet-food ingredients are usually chametz?

Yeast, malt and bran (Guar gum used in frozen foods is not a problem).

Dogs and cats – beware of drastic diet changes

Different pets have different needs. You should consult your animal healthcare provider before drastically changing the diet of dogs or cats because this can make them sick.

Reptiles, fish, and amphibians – no eating for a week?

Many reptiles, fish and amphibians can go a week without being fed. You might want to consider this option if you are not sure how your pet will react to a change in its diet.

Some tips for reptiles, fish, and amphibians:

- Frozen foods with no additives except guar gum are not a problem.
- You can try to feed your amphibians live foods that they can swallow.
- Fishing worms can also work (You might be able to find live fishing worms for sale at your local Walmart or fishing store. Wash them off before feeding).

Rabbits, chickens, and other small mammals and birds – menu planning necessary

Your small mammals and birds need to eat every day. What can you serve them on Pesach? Leafy greens, fruit and kitniyot (Although the Ashkenazic community does not eat kitniyot on Pesach, you may feed kitniyot to your pets). Do not feed them avocados or citrus fruit.

Careful of chametz mixed in

If you purchase seeds and kitniyot, check them carefully before Pesach to make sure that none of the five grains are mixed in.

Don't give your pet a stomachache!

If your pet is delicate, it is best to start feeding it a mix of seeds and regular food before Pesach to ensure your pet adjusts well. After all, you don't want to turn your guinea pig into, well, a guinea pig. ■

But Who's Counting?

By Rabbi Moshe Zywica

A Guide to Sefirat HaOmer

Every year we count the days from Pesach to Shavuot. This mitzvah is known as Sefirat HaOmer, the counting of the Omer. What is the Omer? In the time of the Beit HaMikdash there was a mitzvah to harvest a measure of barley (three sa'ah) on the second night of Pesach. On the following day, there was an additional mitzvah to bring a portion of this measure, an Omer, to the Beit HaMikdash. The Torah commands us (Vayikra 23:15) to count 49 days and simultaneously to count the number of weeks from the bringing of the Omer, which culminates with the Yom Tov of Shavuot.

Today, the Beit HaMikdash is no longer standing, and the Omer is not harvested and offered. How then do we count 49 days from the bringing of the Omer? There are two responses. Some say that the mitzvah today is a rabbinic obligation that was instituted to recall the mitzvah that was performed during the time of the Beit HaMikdash. When we count the days of the Omer, it is as if we are saying, "In the time of the Beit HaMikdash, today would have been day so-and-so from the bringing of the Omer." Others maintain that the mitzvah of Sefirat HaOmer continues to be a Biblical obligation. In this view, when the Torah speaks of counting from the bringing of the Omer, this event is referenced only as a calendar date. When we say, "Today is day so-and-so from the bringing of the Omer," in essence we are saying that today is day so-and-so from the second day of Pesach.

The dispute over whether Sefirat HaOmer today is a Biblical or rabbinic obligation has various ramifications, most notably: What is the halacha if there is a safek (uncertainty) if one counted? If the mitzvah is Biblical, the rule is safek dioraisa lichumra (we are stringent), while if it is rabbinic, safek derabbanan likulah (we are lenient) prevails. Most poskim are of the opinion that after the destruction of the Beit HaMikdash, Sefirat HaOmer is a rabbinic (and not a Biblical) obligation.

For this reason, the Mishna Berura (489:15) writes that many people count sefira during bein hashmashot (twilight, between sunset and nightfall). In halacha, this period is considered a safek yom safek laila (uncertain time, possibly day or possibly night). Nonetheless, sefira is counted by many at this time because they follow the opinion that today Sefirat HaOmer is a rabbinic mitzvah. That said, the Mishna Berura (489:14) writes that in any event, it is best to count after nightfall when we are certain it is night. Furthermore, if one counted during bein hashmashot, the Mishna Berura (489:15) recommends repeating the sefira without a bracha after nightfall.

The Talmud (Yevamos 62b) relates that 24,000 students of Rebbe Akiva died from Passover to Shavuot because they did not treat each other with the proper level of respect. For this reason, a period of mourning is observed during sefira. The Kaf Hachaim (493:5) writes that during this time we should focus on treating others with love, kindness, and respect.

The following are some questions that are commonly asked about Sefirat HaOmer.

If one forgot to count one of the days of sefira, can he/ she continue to count with a bracha?

This issue was debated by poskim hundreds of years ago. Sefer Baal Halachot Gedolot (written in the Geonic period) maintains that if a day was missed, one may not continue reciting sefira with a bracha, while Tosafot disagrees. The standard explanation of this dispute is that the Sefer Baal Halachot Gedolot considers the counting of the 49 days of sefira as one extended mitzvah. If even one day was missed, the mitzvah cannot be fulfilled, and therefore one may not continue counting with a bracha. In contrast, Tosafot considers each day to be a separate and independent mitzvah. The Shulchan Aruch (O.C. 489:8) rules that if a day of sefira was missed, one should continue to count sefira in accordance with the opinion of Tosafot, but a bracha should not be recited in deference to the position of the Baal Halachot Gedolot. Nonetheless, it is recommended that one should hear the blessing from someone else since there is still a mitzvah according to Tosafot.

If one is unsure whether he counted, he should continue to count with a bracha (M.B. 489:38 and Beur Halacha). This is because there is a double uncertainty (known as a sfek sfaika); perhaps he did not forget, and even if he did, possibly the halacha is like Tosafot.

The proper time to count sefira is at night, which is the beginning of the day halachically. Poskim dispute whether the mitzvah of sefira can be fulfilled during the day that follows the night. If a person forgot to count at night and remembered during the day, sefira should be recited that day without a bracha because of the possibility that the mitzvah cannot be fulfilled in the day. Nonetheless, for the remainder of sefira, one would continue to count at night with a bracha. Rav Moshe Feinstein ztz"l (Igrot Moshe O.C. 499:3) discusses an interesting question related to this topic. If a person forgot to count Thursday night, and remembered to count Friday afternoon before sunset but after accepting Shabbat, is the counting valid to the extent that the following days can be counted with a bracha? One can argue that counting after accepting Shabbat is completely invalid, since it is taking place on Shabbat, which is no longer Friday. Rav Moshe rules that the counting is valid. Although the person has accepted the sanctity of Shabbat, nonetheless the day remains Friday until sunset, and sefira can be recited.

When are the periods of mourning in sefira observed?

There are various customs. The main ones are the following: (a) From the first day of the Omer until the 33rd day of the Omer (Lag BaOmer). (b) From the 30th of Nissan (the first day of Rosh Chodesh Iyar) until the morning of the 3rd of Sivan. (c) From the second day of Iyar until the day before Shavuot. (d) From the first day of the Omer until the morning of the 34th day of the Omer (this is the prevailing Sephardic practice). In all these customs—except (d)—the mourning is not observed on the 33rd of the Omer. (Please consult a calendar for the corresponding secular dates for this year.)

Can one recite the blessing of Shehecheyanu during the mourning period of sefira?

The Mishna Berura (493:2) is of the opinion that one is permitted. However, the Ta'amei Ha'Minhagim (p.251) quotes the Eliyaha Zuta (Siman 493) that one should not recite the blessing and refrain from purchasing new clothes during this time. However, the more prevalent custom is to be lenient.

There are various customs of mourning during sefira. May one who is observing mourning in accordance with one minhag attend a wedding of someone who is not in mourning because he follows a different minhag? Also, can a husband and wife follow two different minhagim for the observance of mourning during sefira?

The Igrot Moshe (O.C.1:159) allows one to attend the wedding, because the mitzvah to bring joy to the chattan and kallah overrides the custom of mourning. Regarding the second question, Rav Moshe Feinstein rules that a wife should follow her husband's minhagim (Igrot Moshe O.C 1:158).

Is it permissible to cut nails during the sefira period?

The Kaf Hachayim (493:16) permits cutting nails during sefira. Only hair cutting is forbidden. Trimming a mustache that interferes with one's eating is permitted as well (O.C. 551:13).

If I have not yet counted sefira, and someone asked, "What is today's sefira?" and I answered correctly, can I still count with a bracha? What if it was the 33rd day, and I said it is Lag BaOmer?

1. The Shulchan Aruch (O.C.489:4) writes that if one is asked "What is the sefira?" and responded with the correct date, he has fulfilled the mitzvah. He can no longer recite a bracha and repeat the counting at this point. Even though the person had no intention to fulfill the mitzvah, there is an opinion quoted in the Talmud that mitzvot einam tzerichot kavanah, which means mitzvot can be fulfilled even though a person had no intent to do so. Though the basic halacha follows the opinion that one must have intent to fulfill a mitzvah, with respect to reciting a bracha which may be livatala (in vain), we are more stringent (M.B:22). Therefore, before counting sefira, if asked what day of sefira is it today, one should respond by saying, "Yesterday was day so-and-so." This is only a concern if responding after sunset, but before sunset, counting sefira is invalid in any event.

There is one more consideration in the above situation. The halacha is that if a person counts sefira without saying "Today is day such-and-such," it is invalid. As such, if one responded to the question of "What day is today?" by only saying "Twenty-three" or "Lag BaOmer" (or whatever day it is), sefira can still be recited with a bracha.

With respect to Lag BaOmer, there is another issue of uncertainty. Lag BaOmer is an abbreviation and not a real date. Whether or not one fulfills the mitzvah of Sefirat HaOmer by saying, "Today is Lag BaOmer" is disputed by poskim, as noted in the Beur Halacha and Sha'arei Teshuvah (493:6). If counting sefira with an abbreviation is invalid, the bracha can still be recited. However, because this is an unresolved issue, one should be careful not to say "Today is Lag BaOmer."

When can I get a haircut on Lag BaOmer – in the evening, or must I wait until the morning?

The Shulchan Aruch (O.C. 493:2) states, "Haircutting may not be taken until Lag BaOmer." The Machatzit HaShekel and the Gra maintain that haircutting is only permitted in the morning on Lag BaOmer. This is because Rebbe Akiva's students died for thirty-three days and Lag BaOmer is the last day of mourning. Haircutting is permitted in the morning because of the halachic concept, miktzat hayom kekulo, part of the day is treated as an entire day, and only after the morning begins, the mourning is concluded, because we do not apply miktzat hayom kekulo at night. (For the same reason, shiva of a mourner extends only until the morning of the seventh day.) On the other hand, Eliyahu Rabbah (quoted in M.B:11) is of the opinion that the mourning is suspended on Lag BaOmer because Rebbe Akiva's students died for only thirty-two days. Accordingly, the mourning period of sefira concludes immediately at nightfall on Lag BaOmer, and haircuts are permitted at that time. It has become customary to adopt the more stringent view. When Lag BaOmer falls on Friday, erev Shabbos, there is room to be lenient if there is a strong need to take a haircut Thursday evening (M.B. ibid). Whether a wedding can be performed on the night of Lag BaOmer is a matter of dispute among the poskim (see Igrot Moshe O.C. 1:159). ■

The PARADOXES of The Rav

By Rabbi Menachem Genack

The Rav loved the idea of paradoxes because they convey that reality is not so simple that it can be reduced to one dimension. Since reality is complex, one cannot flatten it into a yes or no binary; one must recognize that there is truth in a multiplicity of perspectives. And in many ways, the Rav was himself a great paradox—his genius and his persona defy conventional categorizations. What follows are some reflections on the paradoxes of the Rav.

While the Rav was an aristocrat both by birth, born into one of the most distinguished families in Judaism, and by his extraordinary talents, he was not an elitist. The Rav was a firm believer in the importance of education for every Jew. Thomas Jefferson wrote that, “If a nation expects to be ignorant and free, in a state of civilization, it expects what never was and never will be.” The Rav believed that for American Jewry to survive, the key was a community that is Jewishly educated, attuned to the nuances of the foundational texts of our mesorah; he did not consider this a goal for the elite alone but for every Jew.

The Rav believed in the significance of each individual, and the root of that belief was theological. When we speak about man having been created in the image of God, “betzelem Elokim” – for the Rav, this refers foremost to man’s uniqueness, even more than to man’s intellect. “Just as each individual’s visage is different from another’s, so too their personalities are different” (Yerushalmi, Berachot 9:1). This reflects the divine image of God Himself who is completely unique, alone, and separate. The human personality contains elements that one can never divulge, even to himself, and that mystery enhances a person’s dignity. The Gemara (Shabbos 113b) tells us that Rabbi Yochanan referred to his clothing as “my dignity.” Unlike the Greeks, for whom the human body was beautiful and should be exposed, according to Jewish tradition human dignity requires that the human body – and indeed personality – be concealed. The unique persona of each individual can never be completely understood; it must remain shrouded in mystery.

The Rambam is known for his “negative theology,” namely, that we cannot describe God’s attributes using positive terms but only through what He is not, because God is infinite, totally other, beyond human comprehension. And therefore, when we speak about God’s attributes, when we say that God is merciful, what we mean to say is only that He lacks the negation of mercy, but we cannot claim to understand His infinite mercy. That unknowability, that mystery that we never completely comprehend, is something that, to some extent, each human shares with Him—the individual too cannot be fully known.

Despite the Rav’s extraordinary genius, he always recognized that there are things beyond human comprehension. Some were critical of his leadership style because of his refusal to impose his own view upon others—but this was because he understood that ambiguity is inherent to the nature of man, and that, therefore, tolerance of other views is a necessity. When he gave a shiur, he always posed questions, and not all questions were answered. He would often quote the introduction to the teshuvos of Rabbi Akiva Eiger, one of his great heroes, written by his children, which states that their father did not despair from a question nor did he rejoice over an answer. Often, Rabbi Akiva Eiger’s most important contribution to understanding the sugya is simply pointing out the questions. This exemplified the Rav: Questions are part of life; things are not as simple as they might seem, and we need not have all the answers. Since not knowing all the answers is part of being human, intellectual humility is always required.

Some additional paradoxes, ironies, and counterpoints that the Rav represented: He was born and raised in Eastern Europe, but he nevertheless understood very well the American mindset. The Rav opposed interfaith dialogue because he believed that one's faith commitments are incommunicable to an outsider, and he was a particularist—after all he was the halakhist par excellence, which requires a unique mindset and methodology. But at the same time, he communicated with a universal audience. The Rav's daughter, Dr. Atarah Twersky, told me once that after the Rav died she received a condolence letter from the archbishop of Boston, who wrote to her that he had read and been inspired by the Rav's works, including The Lonely Man of Faith and Halakhic Man. The Rav was firmly rooted in a particularist tradition, but through his particularism he found a universal language.

The Rav was a great orator, but he had a slight stutter; he was a magnificent communicator before crowds, but he was a shy and private person. As a leader of the community, his real belief was in the rights of the individual. The Rav's expertise extended to current events, including the latest scientific developments. I once set up a meeting with an oncologist who wanted to discuss the situation of Soviet Jewry with the Rav. When he came out of the meeting, the doctor told me that while speaking to the Rav he felt like he was speaking to a colleague—the Rav wanted to know about new treatments, the exact toxicity of drugs, their impact, etc. He was amazed at how up to date the Rav was in cancer treatment.

Yet while the Rav was a very current person, he was also a contemporary with Avraham Avinu, with Moshe Rabbeinu. At his father's seder, he used to say, he could remember exactly where the Rashba and the Rambam sat; they were constant guests. On the 750th anniversary of the Rambam's death, when many events were held to commemorate the Rambam, the Rav commented that this was the first he had heard that the Rambam was no longer alive. He wrote that as a young child he would overhear his father discussing a dispute between the Rambam and the Raavad, and as he was going through different phases of the dispute, the Rav would become exhilarated when the Rambam was victorious, and when the Rambam's position was found difficult, he would become distraught. His mother would comfort him and tell him not to worry; it would work out for the Rambam in the end.

Anyone who attended the Rav's shiur will always remember their first encounter with the Rav because the impact that he had was so immense. I first heard a shiur from the Rav in 1963, when I was a sophomore in high school. I came to a teshuva derasha, which was one of the great events for New York Jewry in those days—the two occasions on which the Rav spoke publicly were his teshuva derasha and his father's yahrzeit. I was immediately struck by the Rav's eloquence, how after he explained the Rambam, it all seemed so simple. He made such an impression on me that I decided right then that I wanted to be his talmid.

The Rav sought to communicate not only the intellectual methodology of Torah but also how the Torah should form a religious persona. The Rav would often say that when he would learn, he could almost feel the presence of the Shechinah above him, as if God were looking over the Gemara together with him and saying, “What do you say, Reb Yoshe Ber, about this dilemma?” In his year of triple aveilus, when his mother, his brother, and his wife passed away within a short period, he said that had it not been for that relationship that he had with the Torah, he would have been crushed. “Unless Thy law had been my delight, I should then have perished in mine affliction.” For the Rav, Torah study was an ecstatic experience because it was a form of avodah. Like prayer, it transports one to God’s presence. The Sifrei includes not only prayer but also Torah study as part of the mitzvah of avodah shebalev – worship of the heart. Through the Torah, finite man can glimpse the infinite mind of God. And the Rav bemoaned the fact that he had been successful in communicating the intellectual aspect of Torah to his talmidim, but less successful in communicating the religious feeling, the awareness of the Shechinah’s presence, to the next generation.

Yet while our Judaism lacks the depth and richness of the faith of Pruzhany and Chaslavitch and Brisk and Warsaw and Vilna, the fact that there is Orthodox Judaism at all in Boston and New York and Chicago and Miami and Los Angeles is, in large part, due to the Rav. When I was young, Look magazine featured the obituary of the Orthodox Jew as a cover article. The endurance of Orthodox Jewry in America was highly uncertain. While the world of European Jewry that was destroyed could not be recreated in America, the Rav was uniquely qualified to construct a model of Orthodoxy that is relevant to a modern, professional, sophisticated American Jew.

A cornerstone for the Rav was that the Jew must live a heroic existence. There are two berachos that we recite in the morning which seem to be identical: Ozer Yisrael bigeveruah, “Who girds Israel with strength,” and Hanosein la’yaeif ko’ach, “Who gives strength to the weary.” What is the difference between the two? The answer, the Rav said, is that ko’ach means physical strength, while gevurah refers to heroism or courage. These are not the same; in fact, there is often an inverse relationship between the two. Throughout almost all our existence as Jews, we were bereft of power, prestige, and influence. But a heroic existence does not require power but denial; it need not wield political influence but rather it must manifest the courage to withdraw; it does not consist of conquest but of standing firm in maintaining our traditions and beliefs. The Rav demonstrated that Judaism could remain engaged with the world and yet hold fast when confronting an onslaught of ideologies antithetical to the Jewish worldview.

A final paradox which encapsulates the Rav: The most important day for the Rav was Yom Kippur, a day of repentance, introspection, and even terror, but paradoxically also a day of great joy. How can Yom Kippur be a day of both joy and terror? The Rav pointed out that whenever the Torah refers to simcha, it invariably states that the joy takes place “Lifnei Hashem” – in God’s presence.

The human personality contains elements that one can never divulge, even to himself, and that mystery enhances a person's dignity.

Genuine joy flows from basking in His warm embrace. Thus, on Yom Kippur, when we stand in judgement before God, terror is accompanied by true simcha. In many ways, the Rav personified the sanctity and singularity of that day. Rav Aharon Lichtenstein once told me: If you ever wanted a favor from the Rav, the time to request it was after Ne'ilah on Yom Kippur because the Rav was then in such an extraordinary mood.

Before each Yom Kippur, the Rav would teach the seder ha'avodah – the Yom Kippur Temple service. He said that he had studied it so many times that had he lived in the times of the Beis Hamikdash he would have been able to substitute for the Kohen Gadol. For us, the Rav was like the Kohen Gadol. The Torah describes the Kohen Gadol as “the greatest among his brethren,” an apt description of the Rav. Just as the Kohen Gadol entered the Holy of Holies alone, the Rav was alone in the inner sanctuary of his unparalleled genius and religious passion. The appearance of the Kohen Gadol is referred to (in the piyyut Mareh Kohen) with the same terms as the prophet Ezekiel describes the splendor of the Shechinah – “As the appearance of the bow that is in the cloud in the day of rain,” etc. The Kohen Gadol was able to reflect the image of the Shechinah; this too was the Rav. Ashrei ayin raasa eleh. ■

Remembering THE RAV zt”l on his 30th Yahrzeit

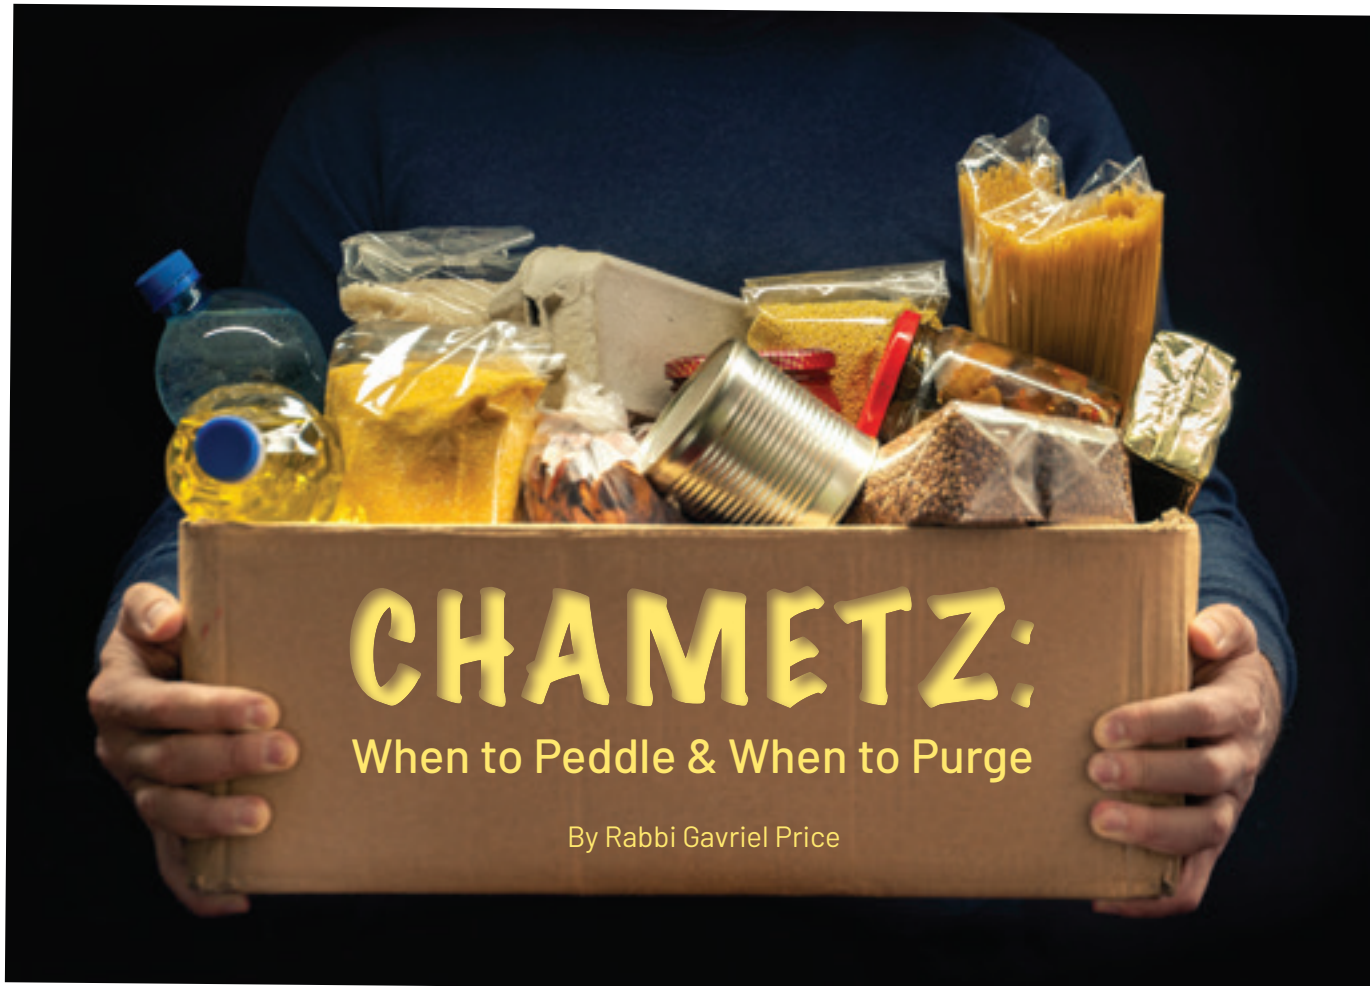

Rabbi Joseph B. Soloveitchik, outstanding rabbinic leader of the last century, served as an inspiring teacher for generations of students, as well as a venerated mentor for generations of leaders in the Jewish world. Reverently known as the “Rav,” with dazzling brilliance and profound wisdom, he revealed new layers of clarity and understanding in every realm of Jewish learning and experience which he addressed, ranging from halacha, Talmud, Tanach, Midrash and Jewish philosophy to interpersonal and family relations and communal concerns.

Scion of an illustrious European rabbinic family, the Rav came from a tradition infused with Torah scholarship, piety, intellectual depth, and dedication to mesorah, conveying the message of Torah from one generation to the next. The Rav embodied this tradition with nobility, and with his extraordinary talents was able to relate those traditions to the American scene in a unique manner.

In this excerpt from The Seder Night: An Exalted Evening, The Rav captures the essence of the Haggadah and the Seder:

“Vehiggadta l'vincha, and you shall tell your child,” is haggadat edut, a formal act of testimony by an eyewitness who testifies before beit din about an event he personally witnessed. Hence, we use the term Haggadah.

The halacha requires that in each generation a person is obligated to view himself as if he himself left Egypt. It is the overpowering experience of the Exodus that compels one to act in a way that testifies to his great fortune and joy, and to demonstrate, without restraint, his happiness and enthusiasm. He becomes a witness to the Exodus; the events that did not occur to another, but to himself. The entire Haggadah becomes eyewitness testimony. ■

A common method of relinquishing ownership of chametz is to sell it, typically through an agent (a rabbi) to a non-Jew. The chametz remains in the house, in a closed-off area (e.g. a closet) that has been rented to its new owner. After Pesach, the rental period ends and the agent purchases the chametz back on behalf of the original owner.

This option is time-honored and halachically acceptable. Some, however, do not want to rely on such a sale for chametz that, on a Torah level, we are required to remove from our possession.

The Torah prohibition against owning chametz applies not only to obvious chametz such as bread, pretzels or cookies, but to any product that contains a chametz ingredient that constitutes a k'zayit within that product. Licorice, for example, which contains a significant amount of flour in its dough, would not be sold according to this position but should, instead, be eaten before Pesach, burned, or otherwise destroyed. Such products are considered chametz gamur — “real” chametz.

If the food is only safek chametz (that is, there is some doubt as to whether it is chametz at all), it may be included in the sale even according to those individuals who avoid the sale of chametz gamur.

The foods listed in the chart on page 39 are identified either as chametz gamur and, according to the stringent position, should not be included in a sale, or “not chametz gamur,” and may be included in a sale.

Many people who avoid selling chametz gamur nonetheless have a family custom to sell their whiskey. ■

The Torah prohibition against owning chametz applies not only to obvious chametz such as bread, pretzels or cookies, but to any product that contains a chametz ingredient that constitutes a k'zayit within that product.

2. Follow family custom.

3. Some opinions hold that, even according to the stringent tradition of not selling chametz gamur, provided the chametz is not distinguishable in the product even if it is present at more than a k'zayit, it can be included in a sale (Rav Yosef Dov HaLevi Soloveitchik, quoted in Nefesh HaRav, page 177).

4. Although malt in corn flakes and crispy rice products is present at more than one-sixtieth of the product, in standard packaging the malt is less than one k'zayit of the package.

5. Contemporary milling production renders flour only safek chametz and it can therefore be included in a sale.

6. Flour as an ingredient in processed food is typically exposed to some form of moisture and should be assumed to be chametz.

7. Typically, non-GMO starch and starch derivatives (like maltodextrin) are sourced from Europe, and should be assumed to be chametz.

8. Wheat is used in traditional soy sauce production.

9. Wheat germ is a byproduct of the milling process; see footnote 3.

Where Do Sephardic and Ashkenazic Poskim Differ When It Comes to Kashering?

By Rabbi Eli Gersten

In the last millennium, Jewish life flourished in two distinct and separate parts of the world: Sephardic Jewry in the Iberian Peninsula, North Africa and the Mideast, and Ashkenazic Jewry in Germany, Eastern Europe and France. Not surprisingly, both communities developed distinctive customs relating to dress, language, cuisine, professions, etc... In the area of Torah study and halacha as well, there emerged two separate styles and approaches of learning, though scholars in both communities communicated with each other and were aware of each other's written works.

The Sephardic and halachic positions were most significantly recorded in two monumental works written in the sixteenth century. The Shulchan Aruch, composed by Rav Yosef Karo zt"l, who resided in Tzfat, Israel, is the main source of halachic practice for Sephardim.

The gloss on the Shulchan Aruch, known as the Rema, was composed by Rav Moshe Isserles zt"l, from Krakow, Poland (Rema is an acronym for the author's name), and is the main source of Ashkenazic tradition. Though there are some significant points of conflict, amazingly, they are relatively few, which underscores the unity of Klal Yisrael and halacha. Even until the present time, Ashkenazim and Sephardim continue to adhere to their respective mesorot (traditions) of halacha.

In this article, we'll highlight some of the major halachic differences between Sephardic and Ashkenazic traditions as related to chametz utensils and kashering for Pesach. As with all areas of halacha, it is advised to consult one's rabbi for guidance.

AINO BEN YOMO

The Shulchan Aruch writes that if a chametz utensil was accidentally used on Pesach, the food may be eaten if the utensil was not previously used for chametz for 24 hours (referred to in halacha as “aino ben yomo”). This is because the ta’am (taste) of chametz that is absorbed in the utensil becomes stale after 24 hours have elapsed and the ta’am loses its halachic significance. The pan may not be used l’chatchila (intentionally) on Pesach unless kashered, because of a rabbinic decree, but if used b’dieved, (accidentally) the food remains kosher.

On the other hand, the Rema rules that even if the chametz utensil was not used for 24 hours (aino ben yomo), the food is forbidden and may not be eaten on Pesach. The Rema agrees that during year-round use, if a utensil was used for non-kosher food and kosher food was then prepared with that utensil, the food is kosher (b’dieved), but the rules that govern Pesach are more stringent.

EXAMPLE:

On Pesach, I accidentally stirred my kosher for Pesach pot of soup with a clean chametz spoon. The spoon had not been used with chametz for more than 24 hours. Can I eat the soup?

A Sephardi may eat the soup and may continue using the pot.

An Ashkenazi must throw away the soup and put away the pot until after Pesach.

In the area of Torah study and halacha as well, there emerged two separate styles and approaches of learning, though scholars in both communities communicated with each other and were aware of each other’s written works.

ROV TASHMISHO - PRIMARY USE

A chametz utensil that is commonly used with heat cannot be used on Pesach unless kashered beforehand. If it is only used with cold chametz, it can be scrubbed clean and then used for Pesach.

What if the primary use is cold, but occasionally it is used with heat? The Shulchan Aruch (451:6) rules that the halachic status is determined by the primary use (known as rov tashmisho). Thus, a chametz utensil that is ordinarily used for cold food, but on rare occasions is used for hot, can be used on Pesach (without kashering) if it is properly cleaned. There is one caveat; the utensil must not have been used with chametz in the past 24 hours. Why should rov tashmisho obviate the need for kashering despite the occasional hot chametz use? The answer is that, as previously explained, once 24 hours have elapsed, food cooked in a chametz pot is always kosher according to Sephardic tradition. The requirement to kasher a vessel after 24 hours is only rabbinic. As such, the rabbis instituted a leniency, that the halachic status of a utensil is based on primary use.

The Rema disagrees. According to the Rema, one must kasher a utensil used for chametz even if only one time. Moreover, the Rema is strict even if one is unsure if the utensil was used for chametz.

EXAMPLE:

A kiddush cup is usually used cold, but occasionally it is washed with hot water together with chametz dishes. How should one prepare a silver kiddush cup for Pesach?

A Sephardi may prepare the cup for Pesach by scrubbing it clean, so long as the cup had not been used with chametz in the past 24 hours.

An Ashkenazi must kasher the cup by pouring boiling water on the cup. (The cup is kashered the same way it absorbed chametz. Since it absorbed with irui (pouring), it is kashered the same way.)

KASHERING A CERAMIC SINK

The Shulchan Aruch (451:1) writes that cheres (earthenware) utensils cannot be kashered for Pesach or year-round if used with heat. It is generally accepted that porcelain, China and modern-day ceramics are included in this category as well. Ashkenazim cannot kasher a ceramic sink since the temperature is occasionally very hot.

On the other hand, Rav Ovadia Yosef zt"l writes that Sephardim can use a ceramic sink for Pesach because Sephardim are lenient with rov tashmisho. If the primary use of a utensil is cold, it can be used after 24 hours without kashering. The rov tashmisho (primary use) of water in a sink is below yad soledet (too hot to hold), which is treated as cold in halacha. Still, Rav Ovadia Yosef zt"l writes that boiling water must be poured on all the surfaces of the sink three times. Presumably, this is because when dealing with Pesach, there is some absorption of chametz even on cold ceramic or earthenware surfaces.

KASHERING GLASS

The Shulchan Aruch (451:26) writes that glass utensils need not be kashered for Pesach, even if they were used with hot chametz. This is because glass does not absorb, and it is therefore sufficient to scrub them clean. Contemporary Sephardic poskim, including Rav Ovadia Yosef zt"l, write that the same applies to Pyrex, even though it is used directly on the fire.

The Rema disagrees and holds that glass does absorb. Moreover, since glass is made from sand, it is viewed like ceramic and cannot be kashered.

EXAMPLE:

How should a glass stovetop be kashered?

A Sephardi may use a glass stovetop after scrubbing it clean. No kashering is necessary.

An Ashkenazi must clean the stovetop surface well and not use it for 24 hours. During Pesach, pots should not be placed directly on the stove surface since glass cannot be kashered. Rather, an aluminum or copper disk (or other metals) should be placed directly under the pots.

EXAMPLE:

I have a chametz set of glass plates and bowls. Can they be used for Pesach?

A Sephardi may use these utensils after scrubbing them clean. No kashering is necessary.

An Ashkenazi may not use these utensils. There is no way to kasher them for Pesach.

KASHERING CHAMETZ UTENSILS WHEN THEY ARE STILL BEN YOMO

Shulchan Aruch (452:1) writes that one may kasher chametz utensils (provided this is done before the fifth hour on erev Pesach when chametz can still be eaten), even if the utensils were used with chametz within the past 24 hours (ben yomo).

Although the Rema agrees in principle with the Shulchan Aruch that this is acceptable, still he writes that the custom of Ashkenazim is not to kasher any utensil without first waiting 24 hours. Sephardim, however, do not have this custom. Though there are other reasons why it is proper to wait before kashering until the utensils have not been used for 24 hours, strictly speaking there is no need for a Sephardi to do so.

EXAMPLE:

I cooked chametz in a pot on erev Pesach in the morning. Can I still kasher the pot for Pesach?

A Sephardi may kasher the pot with hagalah before the fifth hour on erev Pesach.

The custom of Ashkenazim is not to kasher the pot, and it should be put away for the duration of Pesach. ■

NOT HOME DURING PESACH? NOT A PROBLEM

By Rabbi Eli Gersten

AIRBNB

I will be travelling on Chol Hamoed Pesach and staying at an Airbnb. Is it possible to use the kitchen (sink, oven, stove top, refrigerator, ice maker, coffee maker, table, drinking glasses) on Pesach?

Sink:

Generally speaking, kashering with boiling water is not acceptable on Pesach. Therefore, the sink cannot be kashered. Instead, one should clean the sink very well, and then place an insert/tub in the sink. Since the faucet was also not kashered, one should only use the cold-water tap (or lukewarm) but not wash dishes using hot water from the faucet.

Ovens:

If the oven is a self-cleaning oven, it may be kashered on Pesach. Although one cannot kasher with boiling water on Pesach, one may kasher with fire if it reaches very high temperatures as do self-cleaning ovens (but not auto-clean ovens). The oven should first be cleaned, since the self-clean cycle is not as effective on a very dirty oven. It is also recommended that one wait 24 hours (until one knows the oven has not been used in 24 hours) before kashering the oven. Although technically speaking, a proper self-cleaning may be done immediately without waiting 24 hours, since it is possible the self-cleaning oven is not working the way it should, it is best to be careful and only kasher it after first waiting 24 hours. If the oven is not a self-cleaning oven, it cannot be kashered on Pesach. Food may be double wrapped and placed in the oven.

Stove tops:

Gas stove tops can be kashered on Pesach. The stove grates can be kashered by placing a metal pan on top of the grates and turning on the burners for a few minutes. If one can use a blech (place a metal sheet under the pots when cooking) that is an even better system.

Electric stove tops can be kashered by turning them on until they glow red. Glasstop stoves cannot be kashered. Instead, a blech should be used.

Refrigerator/ Ice Maker/ Coffee Maker/ Table/ Glasses

One may take a rag and clean the surfaces of the refrigerator on Pesach. Alternatively, one may place paper or foil down on the refrigerator shelves.

An ice maker may be used on Pesach. A coffee maker that was not kashered before Pesach may not be used on Pesach, as one may not kasher with boiling water on Pesach.

A table should be covered with a plastic non-porous tablecloth.

One may not use chametz glasses on Pesach if they were not kashered. Since glasses today are also used hot, they may not be used even if one is planning on only using them cold.

COLLEGE DORM ROOM

I share a dorm room with a non-Jew (or with a not-yet-observant Jew) and will be on campus over Pesach. Are there any special restrictions or requirements that I need to be aware of?

Having a non-Jewish roommate presents unique Pesach challenges. Even if one thoroughly cleans their part of the room and rids themselves of all their chametz, there is still going to be chametz that belongs to the non-Jew in the room. The halacha is that one is not permitted to live in a room that has chametz, even if the chametz belongs to a non-Jew, and even if one did not give him permission to leave it there. Although, on Chol Ha'moed Pesach you may walk down the aisle of a supermarket that contains chametz, and we are not concerned that you will pull a box of crackers off the shelf and eat them, this is because a supermarket is not a place where you spend time or sit down to eat. You are merely passing through. However, when you are at home in your dorm room, there is an ongoing concern that you might forget that it is Pesach and partake from the chametz (even though it is not yours). The Mishnah Berurah writes that this applies to all forms of chametz, even to chametz that requires preparation (such as cooking). For example, one may not remain in a room that contains raw pasta or oatmeal packets. This is despite the fact that it will take time to prepare the chametz, and that, during that time span, you would likely remember that it is Pesach before consuming the chametz. Still, the halacha remains the same. However, the Mishnah Berurah indicates that if the chametz is not kosher, such that all year round you would never eat this type of food, then this type of chametz may remain in your surroundings. So, for example, if the only chametz in the room is a hamburger in a bun that your roommate placed on his desk, there is no issue remaining in the room.

So, what is the solution for remaining in a dorm room with a non-Jewish roommate who brings chametz into the room? The halacha is that one must erect a mechitza (partition) between you and the chametz. The partition must extend downward to within 3 tefachim (about 10.5 inches) of the floor and must extend upwards to a height of ten tefachim (approximately 3 feet) and must separate between you and the chametz. During the day, if you stand your mattress on its side (a standard twin mattress is 39 inches wide) this could serve as a partition. At night, before going to bed, you should ask your roommate to cover his chametz. The Halacha is that if you find chametz in your room on Yom tov, since chametz on Yom tov is muktza and cannot be removed, Chazal permit as a short-term solution to cover the chametz. The same would apply even to chametz that belongs to your roommate that he will not agree to remove. If the chametz is in a closed box, it is already covered, but if the chametz is out in the open or in a bowl, you should ask him to cover it with a towel.

I have a kitchenette in my dorm room with a sink, table and counters. I share this area with non-Jews. Is there any way that I can use these items on Pesach?

Even if you were to kasher the sink before Pesach, it will quickly become chametz again and a sink cannot be kashered on Pesach. Although you must consider the sink as chametz, you may still use the sink for drinking or washing dishes, so long as you only use the cold water.

You should not place food or dishes directly on the chametz counters or tables. Instead, you should put down a plastic mat or tablecloth to act as a separation. You may not eat at the table together with your roommate who is eating chametz, out of concern that chametz particles may get dispersed across the table. Therefore, it will not help even if you and your roommate eat on separate placemats or place a divider in-between, since regarding chametz we are concerned even for tiny specks of chametz that can inadvertently scatter across the table.

STAYING IN A HOSPITAL

I will be staying with a relative who is in the hospital over Pesach. Can I get a coffee from the hospital cafeteria on Chol Hamoed Pesach?

It is generally assumed that year-round one can buy unflavored coffee in coffee shops, cafeterias, convenience stores etc. What about on Pesach?

One should certainly not order a decaf coffee. The decaffeination process can involve the use of alcohol which can be real chametz. Therefore, decaffeinated coffee, whether it be instant or roasted beans, should only be purchased with a reliable Pesach certification. The same holds true for flavored coffee. Flavors are complex chemicals that often comprise dozens of components, and each of these components must be reviewed to make sure that they are free from chametz. One should not assume that a flavored coffee is acceptable unless it is specifically certified for Pesach.

What about plain black brewed coffee? Can it be purchased anywhere, even from a hospital cafeteria? The two ingredients in plain black coffee, water and roasted coffee beans, are both acceptable for Pesach. However, there is still a concern regarding the coffee machines and dispensers. Although these machines are only used with coffee, it is certainly possible that at some point the machines were used for decaffeinated or flavored coffees and there are any number of other possible concerns (when it comes to chametz, we tend to assume the worst). If these machines would be in our kitchens and we had any doubt about their acceptability, we certainly would kasher them before using them for Pesach, but unfortunately for those who must be in a hospital this is not an option. Must one assume the worst? May one be lenient? There is no clear answer. Since each individual situation is unique, it is best to consult to your rabbi for guidance. ■

HOW TO MAKE YOUR KITCHEN KOSHER-FOR-PASSOVER, EVEN IF YOU'RE NOT A RABBI

Safety Warning:
Kashering Involves High Heat!

By Rabbi Eli Gersten

ONE OF THE MOST DAUNTING PREPARATIONS we make for Pesach is kashering, a process to prepare chametz utensils for Pesach use. As with all areas of halachah, those who are unsure of how to apply the rules of kashering to their situation should consult an Orthodox rabbi.

The Torah (Bamidbar 31:23) requires kashering utensils acquired from a non-Jew, as they are presumed to have been used in non-kosher cooking (and will have absorbed non-kosher flavor). Since chametz on Pesach is also forbidden, the Talmud applies the laws of kashering to chametz as well. There are four basic methods of kashering. The prescribed method depends on the utensil and how it was used.

LIBUN GAMUR (BURNING)

Utensils used directly in the fire (e.g. BBQ grate), must be kashered by placing them into fire. This process has the effect of burning away any absorbed taste. To qualify as a complete libun, metal must be heated until it glows. A self-clean cycle of an oven (approx. 850°F) also qualifies as libun. There is no need to wait 24 hours before libun, though it is advised. There is no need to scrub the utensil before performing libun, since the fire will burn off residue, but some cleaning is advised.

HAGALAH (BOILING)

Utensils that were used to cook non-kosher liquid can be kashered with hagalah (boiling in water). To prepare the utensil for hagalah, the utensil must be thoroughly cleaned. Only utensils that can be scrubbed clean should be kashered. Items that have narrow cracks, crevices, deep scratches or other areas that cannot be cleaned, cannot be kashered for Pesach. The following, for example, cannot be kashered for Pesach: pots with rolled lips, bottles with narrow necks, filters, colanders, knives (or other utensils) where food can get trapped between the blade and handle. After cleaning, the utensils should then be left idle for 24 hours. To kasher, every part of the utensil must make contact with boiling water. This process can be done in parts. For example, a large spoon can be immersed into a pot of boiling water for 10 seconds, turned over and then the remainder immersed. When the utensil is removed from the boiling water, it should be rinsed off in cold water. While strictly speaking these utensils may be kashered in a clean non-Pesach pot that was not used for 24 hours, the minhag, however, is to kasher the pot first, by boiling water in the pot and discarding.

IRUY KLI RISHON (POURED BOILING WATER)

If the utensil only came in contact with hot liquid being poured on it (iruy), it can be *kasher*d in the same manner. If the utensil came in contact with hot chametz solids, then one should kasher by pouring boiling water accompanied by an even melubenet, a heated stone. For example, if hot pasta fell into a sink, stones should be heated on the stove, and moved around the surface of the sink while boiling water is poured over them. In this way, the water will remain boiling on the surface of the sink. The stones may need to be reheated several times, since they cool down quickly. In all other aspects the process is identical to hagalah.

LIBUN KAL (LIGHT BURNING)

In certain cases, libun kal is sufficient. This can be accomplished by heating in an oven at 550° F for one hour. This method of kashering can be used in place of hagalah. It is also used when the need for libun is only an added stringency.

NOT EVERY MATERIAL CAN BE KASHERED.

Ceramic, such as china, and enamel coated pots cannot be *kasher*d. It is the custom of Ashkenazim not to kasher glass as well. Some poskim do not permit kashering plastic or other synthetic materials for Pesach; however, the opinion of the OU rabbanim is that it may be *kasher*d, if there is a need. Ask your rabbi for guidance. Composite stone (e.g. quartz counters) which is made mostly of stone, but is held together with resin, can be *kasher*d. As a rule, materials such as metal, wood, stone, natural rubber, and fabric can be *kasher*d. ■

SOME HELPFUL TIPS:

It is recommended that one not wait until erev yom tov to run the self-cleaning cycle to kasher an oven, as this is known to be hard on the oven and repairs may be required.

Some newer self-cleaning ovens employ Aqualift technology that cleans at low heat; they should be considered like non-self-cleaning ovens (see The Modern Kitchen on page 52 for details).

Please note that kashering may discolor oven racks and stovetop burners. If racks have rubber wheels, the wheels may melt. Replacement racks for Pesach should be ordered well in advance of the holiday.

KASHERING CHECKLIST:

LIBUN GAMUR

- Surface must be heated to a dry temperature of approximately 850°F (i.e. self-cleaning oven) or until it begins to glow.

HAGALAH

- Surface should be completely cleaned with hot water and unused for 24 hours.
- Surface should be completely clean and dry.
- The utensil should be completely submerged in a pot of boiling water.
- Cold water should be poured over surface.

IRUY KLI RISHON

- Surface should be completely cleaned with hot water and unused for 24 hours.
- Surface should be completely clean and dry.
- Boiling water should be poured directly over all surfaces followed by cold water poured over the entire surface.

LIBUN KAL

- Surface should be completely cleaned with hot water and unused for 24 hours.
- Surface should be completely clean and dry.
- Surface should be heated to a dry temperature of 550° F (i.e. oven) for a minimum of one hour.

THE MODERN

KITCHEN

SILVERWARE, POTS & OTHER SMALL ITEMS

HAGALAH (boiling in water)

Rolled lips, seams or cracks that cannot be cleaned will require torching of those areas. Utensils should be immersed one at a time into a pot of boiling water that is on the fire. Water should be allowed to return to a boil before the next item is placed in the pot. The pot can be non-Passover, provided it is clean, has not been used for 24 hours, and water is first boiled in the pot and discarded. Larger items can be submerged in the water one part at a time. Utensils should then be rinsed in cold water.

GAS STOVETOP LIBUN (burning) & COVER

The stovetop surface and grates should be cleaned well and not used for 24 hours.

The stovetop surface should be covered with foil. The stovetop grates can be replaced or they should be burned out in the oven @ 550° F for one hour.

ELECTRIC STOVETOP LIBUN

(burning) & COVER The stovetop surface should be cleaned well and covered with foil. The burners should be turned on until they glow red.

GLASS STOVETOP CANNOT BE KASHERED & MUST BE COVERED*

The stovetop surface should be cleaned well and not used for 24 hours.

During Pesach, pots should not be placed directly on the stove surface, but rather an aluminum (or other metal) disk should be placed directly under the pot.

The entire glass top surface should not be covered as this might cause it to overheat and crack.*

METAL TEA KETTLE

HAGALAH (boiling in water)

The same treatment for pots applies here. Although it is uncommon for anything but water to be put into a tea kettle, nevertheless it must be *kasher*d. Tea kettles often sit on the stove, and it is common for them to get spritzed with hot food.

STAINLESS STEEL SINK

IRUY (pouring boiling water)

Remove drain. [It is recommended that the drain be replaced. If this is difficult, it may be used if the drain has large holes that can be completely scrubbed clean]. It is preferable to kasher a sink by pouring boiling water in conjunction with an even melubenet (a heated stone). In lieu of kashering with a heated stone, some will place a rack on the bottom of the sink, or use a sink insert.

CERAMIC SINK

CANNOT BE KASHERED AND MUST BE COVERED

The sink should not be used with hot water for 24 hours.

The sink should be completely clean and dry.

The sink should be covered with layers of contact paper or foil; it is best to purchase a sink insert.

KEURIG COFFEE MAKER

HAGALAH OR IRUY (pouring boiling water)

(for those who kasher plastic) The coffee maker must be cleaned well and not used for 24 hours. Remove K-cup holder and perform hagalah or iruy on K-cup holder. Run a Kosher-for-Passover K-cup in the machine (this will kasher the top pin).

HOT WATER URN, WATER COOLER

IRUY (pouring boiling water)

Urn only used for heating water: Run hot water through the water tap for 10 seconds, while pouring boiling water from a kettle over the water tap.

Urn also used to warm food (e.g. to warm challah): Not recommended. Must be put away for the holiday.

Water Cooler In addition to pouring boiling water over tap, replace water bottle.

ELECTRIC MIXER

NOT RECOMMENDED

Because of the difficulty in cleaning out the housing of the mixer from fine particles of flour, one should not use their year-round mixer on Pesach. The mixer blades, though, can be cleaned and *kasher*d with hagalah.

SELF-CLEANING OVENS LIBUN (burning)

Remove any visible food. Complete self-cleaning cycle with racks in place.

NON-SELF-CLEANING OVEN LIBUN (burning)

Clean all surfaces (walls, floor, doors and racks) thoroughly with a caustic cleanser (e.g. Easy Off). Pay special attention to thermostat, oven window, and edges of the oven chamber. Black discoloration that is flush with the metal need not be removed. Oven should not be used for 24 hours. Place racks in the oven and turn the oven to broil (highest heat) for 60 minutes. A broiler pan that comes in direct contact with food should not be used.

Note: The method of kashering described above is based on the ruling of Rav Aharon Kotler zt'l. However, Rav Moshe Feinstein zt'l ruled that the oven must either be *kasher*d with a blow torch, or an insert should be placed in the oven. Consult your rabbi for guidance.

WARMING DRAWERS LIBUN (burning)

Typically warming drawers do not get to libun kal temperature. Therefore, unless one is experienced in kashering with a torch, warming drawers are not recommended for use on Pesach.

MICROWAVES

HAGALAH (boiling in water) (for those who kasher plastic) The microwave must be cleaned well and not used for 24 hours. Glass turntable should be removed and replaced with new kosher-for-Passover surface. A styrofoam cup should be filled with water and boiled in the microwave for 10 minutes. The cup should be refilled and moved to another spot and the process repeated for 10 more minutes. Cardboard or contact paper should be taped over the glass window pane for the duration of Pesach.

THE SINK FAUCET (including instant hot)

IRUY (pouring boiling water)
Detach any filters or nozzles.

STAINLESS STEEL, GRANITE, COMPOSITE STONE (E.G. QUARTZ) OR FORMICA COUNTERTOPS

IRUY (pouring boiling water) OR COVERING It is preferable to kasher a countertop by pouring boiling water in conjunction with an even melubenet. There are different opinions as to whether formica (or plastic) countertops can be kashered for Pesach.

CERAMIC TILE COUNTERTOPS

CANNOT BE KASHERED & MUST BE COVERED
The counter should be covered with a water-resistant covering.

REFRIGERATORS, FREEZERS, FOOD SHELVES & PANTRIES

CLEAN & COVER

These areas should be thoroughly cleaned, paying special attention to the edges where crumbs may get trapped. The surfaces should be lined with paper or plastic.

Note: Refrigerators and freezers will operate more efficiently if holes are poked in the lining to allow air flow.

BABY HIGH CHAIR

COVERED

The tray should be covered with contact paper. The seat, legs and bars should be wiped down with a soapy rag.

DISHWASHERS

HAGALAH (boiling in water) Kashering of dishwashers is a complicated process and should only be done in consultation with a halachic authority.

TABLES

COVERED Although wooden tables can be kashered, the common custom is to clean tables well and then cover them.

TABLECLOTHS, KITCHEN GLOVES, APRONS & OTHER FABRIC ITEMS

WASH Fabric items can be kashered by washing them with detergent in a washing machine set on "hot." Items should be checked to make sure no pieces of food remain attached.

GLOSSARY OF TERMS:

LIBUN GAMUR - Burning

HAGALAH - Boiling

IRUY KLI RISHON - Poured Boiling Water

EVEN MELUBENET - Heated Stone

Shabbos at reduced brightness. EHM is the only standard that's OU Kosher certified - not to be confused with other standard Shabbos Mode not certified by OU Kosher.

OU Kosher's Partnerships

OU Kosher, through its partnership with Zman Technologies, continues to work with GE Appliances to increase availability of kosher-certified, halachically compliant EHM appliances including ovens, while making them more user friendly.

GEA Ovens With Manual EHM

GE ovens are also certified by OU Kosher with the use of the Shabbos Keeper and in models with manually operated EHM. As with top-door refrigerators, there are also lower-priced ovens that have built-in EHM operated manually.

Learn more and view model numbers at oukosher.org/GEA ■

In February 2023 GE Appliances (GEA) began production of a new line of OU Kosher/CRC Hisachdus-certified top-freezer refrigerators with manually operated, built-in Enhanced Shabbat Mode (EHM). These new appliances allow users to easily turn EHM on and off. The OU Kosher symbol on the product will confirm certification.

What is Enhanced Shabbos Mode?

During Shabbos and Yom Tov, EHM automates the cooling or heating system and disables electrical flow through door switches while automating sensors so computers can't turn on any systems when opening or closing the door. It also controls interior lights that stay on throughout

OU Kasher Hosts Conference to Show Appreciation for Mashgichim in Israel

OU Kasher supervises nearly 250 sites in Israel certifying many thousands of products produced in the holy land.

OU's Rabbi Menachem Genack (CEO) and Rabbi Moshe Elefant (COO) travelled to Israel for a special Jerusalem event to express appreciation to its network of Mashgichim in Israel. One hundred and twenty attendees were addressed by OU leadership, including newly appointed OU Kasher Chairman Dr. Josh Penn and prominent Rabbis.

Rabbi Elefant said: "OU Kasher is the most recognizable kosher certification in the nation. Our clients are proud to bear the OU Kasher symbol. A luncheon with gedolei Yisroel is an appropriate way to honor the people who help make that possible."

Rabbi Genack concluded: "Our mashgichim are the backbone of OU Kasher. Their work is the highest level of excellence. Each mashgiach in our network is talented and bright, and the OU Kasher team works collaboratively together and learns from each other every day."

OU Israel Kashrut Director, Rabbi Yissachar Dov Krakowski added retrospectively: Since the conference, I've been getting non-stop messages from the mashgichim about how much they enjoyed it. I'm so glad we could show them how crucial their work is as part of the OU mission." ■

Type of Insect

Aphids or thrips*

Location of Insect

Found even in the inner leaves due to its open growth

Method of Inspection

Cut off lettuce base; soak lettuce in cold water with several drops of concentrated, non-scented liquid detergent or vegetable wash; agitate leaves using a strong stream of water to remove all foreign matter and soap from leaf surface or use a vegetable brush on both sides of the leaf; check leaves under direct light.

ICEBERG LETTUCE

Type of Insect

Aphids or thrips*

Location of Insect

In the folds and crevices of the first four layers

Method of Inspection

Detach loose leaves; discard; core lettuce; split head in half; peel 4 layers off the head; carefully check these leaves by holding the leaf under direct light; check both sides of each leaf. If 1-2 insects are found, check an additional layer. If last 3 consecutive layers were clean and the remaining leaves are tightly packed together, the remaining leaves of the head may be used without further checking, but should be washed well before use. If 3 or more insects are found, the remaining leaves must be washed and checked before use.

ESCAPE THE ROOM

It's Seder night, and the entire family is searching high and low for the afikoman.

Tzafun. "Where is the afikoman?" Tatty calls.

Everyone searches for the hidden matzah. Everyone, that is, except for Kalman. He knows exactly where he hid it, and he's biding his time.

Chatzos is getting closer; it's time to call off the search. Yes! Kalman will finally get the electric scooter he bargained for!

With the promise of his dream scooter, Kalman hurries to get the afikoman. He is so proud of his ingenious hiding place.

But then... Oh no! The afikoman is not there!

Who took it?

It's nearly Chatzos, and the pressure is on. But the blank looks on everyone's face tell the family that they have a serious problem.

Where is the afikoman?

CHALLENGE

Where was it hidden?

Where is it now?

How did it get there?

See answers on next page.

DO YOU WANT TO SAVE MONEY ON THERAPY?

We negotiate with your insurance plan to reimburse you for your weekly psychotherapy, psychiatry, neuropsych evaluations & assessments.

- Confidential, HIPAA Compliant
- We work with employer sponsored/private PPO plans. We do not work with Medicare, Medicaid, government, Union plans.
- Reimbursements range from $150-$400 per claim/session. Clients typically save $5,000 to $45,000+ annually via reimbursements.
- Applies to current and ongoing treatment (not retroactive to prior years).
- Risk Free! We only charge a fee when we successfully negotiate with your plan to save you money on your therapy bills.
- Additional services include advocacy for general medical and hospital bills.

THE SIMPLY JEWISH HAGGADAH

“This is a wonderful work and one must say to the author, “yasher koach”-more power to you.”

– Rav Dovid Cohen, Congregation Gvul Yaabetz

“No longer just a recounting of an ancient tale, but a relevant modern-day experience with profound lessons for our lives today.”

– Lori Palatnik, Director of The Jewish Women’s Renaissance Project

“Whether you are a novice or have been attending Passover Seders for many years, The Simply Jewish Haggadah will help you and your family have a more meaningful and authentic Seder. It guides you through the Seder, telling you what you are supposed to do, when you are supposed to do it, and most importantly, why we perform the various rituals.”

— Senator Joseph Lieberman

- Share recipes from award-winning author Jamie Geller
- Inspiring Passover related stories
- An in-depth look at the ten plagues and the Exodus
- Beautiful, hardcover color Haggadah

Touro's Lander College for Women Powering Our Students to Succeed.

I built my own computer in grade school so it was natural that I chose tech as my career path.

Because there weren't so many women when I started, I had to work harder to prove I belonged. Tech is about developing real products billions of people use and I love the creative process. Touro helped me reach my full potential, making sure I had all the right classes and internships that enabled me to stand out and be successful.

MILK SUBSTITUTES ONLY IN SHELF STABLE NON-REFRIGERATED CONTAINERS

ALMOND BREEZE ORIGINAL
RICE DREAM CLASSIC ORIGINAL
SOY DREAM ORIGINAL ENRICHED

PLEASE NOTE THE FOLLOWING POINTS:

- Many of the products contain kitniyot, some as the primary ingredient.
- Some of the products may contain minor ingredients that are possibly, though unlikely, produced from chametz-based raw materials. All such ingredients are used at a less than 1:60 ratio.
- Liquid versions of these products are preferable to their powdered counterparts.
- Products that contain flavors should only be provided when no unflavored alternative exists.
- Products should be purchased before Passover and stored and maintained separately from Kosher-for-Passover Foods.
- A few – not all – of the Ensure, Glucerna, Pediasure and Jevity products contain oat fiber; the OU has determined that the fiber is not chametz, and the products are permitted to be consumed on Passover.

NON-FOOD ITEMS

The consensus of the OU's poskim (rabbinic authorities) is that the following may be used on Passover without certification:

ALUMINUM FOIL
ALUMINUM FOIL BAKING PANS
BABY OINTMENTS
BAGS (PAPER OR PLASTIC)
BODY WASH
BOWL AND TUB CLEANERS
CANDLES
CARDBOARD

ORAL HYGIENE

Oral Hygiene (Toothpaste, Mouthwash) & Flavored Lip Treatment (Lipstick, Lip Balm) Products:

Rabbinical authorities disagree as to whether kosher certification of these items is required (both for Passover and year-round). Consult your Rabbi. Please see product pages in the Passover Guide for OU certified toothpaste.

GUIDELINES FOR MEDICINES

1. Exercise extreme caution and consult with your doctor and rabbi before making a decision not to take a medicine.

2. Known and tested medications in the form of creams, non-chewable pills and injections may be owned, used and consumed on Pesach, even if they contain chametz or kitniyot, since they are inedible. This covers most medicines used by adults. However, if an equally effective chametz-free alternative is available or procurable, this should be used instead.

A. It is permissible to grind pills and mix the powder into food items so that a child can take medicine on Pesach. However, a doctor must be consulted to make sure that the child is getting the correct dosage and that the potency of the pill is not compromised by altering its consistency.

3. Liquid medicines, chewable pills and pills coated with a flavored glaze are considered palatable and may contain chametz.

Also gelcaps may present a problem because they may contain non-kosher edible gelatin. Therefore:

A. If possible, they should be replaced, under the direction of a doctor, with a non-chewable, uncoated pill.

B. If substitution is not possible and the person is in a state of sakana or safek sakana (any possible danger to human life), the medication may be owned and consumed. The same applies if the condition is not yet a safek sakana but may deteriorate to that point. A rabbi should be consulted as to whether it is preferable to purchase the medicine before or during Pesach, and as to how to dispose of the medicine once the danger passes.

C. If substitution is not possible and a doctor determines that there is no possibility of sakana if the person does not take the medicine, a rabbi should be consulted. He may be able to determine that the medicine does not contain chametz and/or kitniyot, or he may decide that the medicine may be consumed due to the seriousness of the patient's condition.

4. Unless an equivalent alternative is available, medicinal items which contain kitniyot are permitted for people who are ill. Questions on this issue should be directed to your rabbi.

5. These guidelines do not address the more general prohibition of consuming medicines on Shabbat and yom tov.

SEFIRAT HAOMER 2023/5783

Sign up for the OU daily sefirah reminder email @ www.ou.org/sefirah

Sefirah is the counting of seven complete weeks from the second evening of Pesach until Shavuot. The count, which takes place after nightfall for the following day, is preceded by the blessing only if done in the evening and no days have been missed in the count.

Visit www.ou.org/sefirah to receive an email reminder to count each day. Emails are pre-programmed to go out on each of the 49 days of the Omer to help make sure you don't forget to count!
